Accelerate innovation with Azure Al Insights

Guaranteed speed at any scale

Latency

Real-time access with <10 ms read and write latencies backed globally by SLA

High Availability

Financially-backed SLAs for millisecond read and write latency at the 99th percentile and 99.999% high availability

Throughput

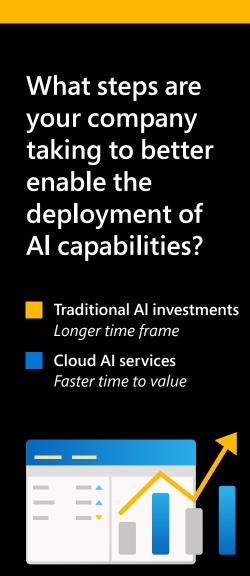

Turnkey multi-master writes and data distribution to any Azure region is enabled by a click of a button

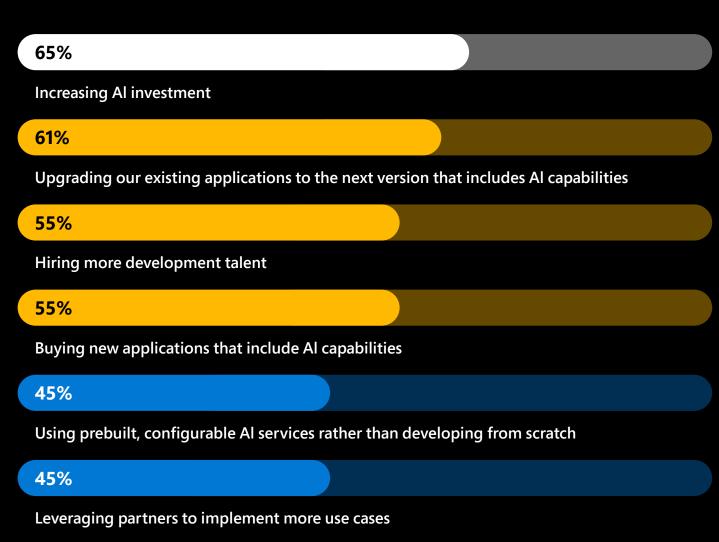

Consistency

Independently and elastically scale storage and throughput across any Azure region

Amid today's constraints, organizations need to optimize technology investments to amplify what they can do and ultimately achieve

Expected benefits from Azure Al services adoption

67% greater options of potential Al capabilities and functions deployment time

67% faster

66% better support and troubleshooting

60% greater scale of implementation across multiple apps 48% less reliance on specialized development skills services will drive positive outcomes for customers, employees, and the business

More effective implementation of Al through cloud Al and use of Al in applications can drive for your business? 48% increased

What do you believe are the top business benefits that more effective implementation

47% increased

automation

employee productivity

experience

50% better customer

47% revenue growth

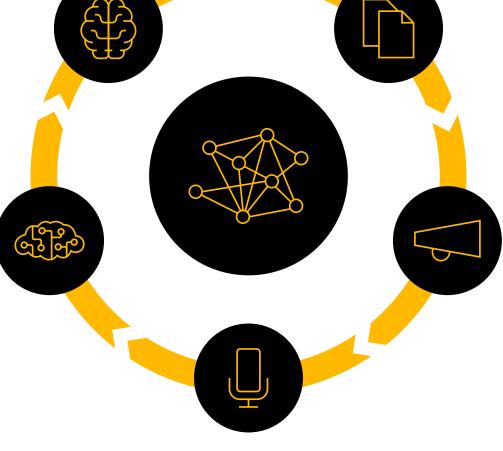

48% increased

business agility

Knowledge mining Content search

Companies looking to get started with Al should focus on 5 primary use cases where Al's value has been proven

Augmented intelligence Document process automation

Product discovery optimization

 Document analysis Claims management and automation

 Call transcription and analysis Multimedia content captioning Conversation transcription

Machine translation Real-time speech translation

- Document translation

 - Conversational Al Customer service assistant Language understanding
 - Voice control

77%

Of companies agree that Al capabilities are readily accessible to their business if they want them

73%

Of companies agree that every application could benefit from some sort of Al